

How do Pheromones Work?

1

Our bodies naturally secrete fluids through glands in our body that contain natural pheromones

2

The vomeronasal organ detects the pheromones and sends a signal to the olfactory nerves.

3

The olfactory nerves stimulate the hypothalamus in the cortex of the brain, which controls physiological responses

4

The pheromone scent can trigger the hypothalamus to release hormones, influencing sexual desire and arousal